TSI Scotland Network Manifesto for Change

Natalie Masterson, Anthea Coulter & Victoria McRae

FORTH VALLEY
THIRD SECTOR CONFERENCE 2021

Why did this Manifesto come about?

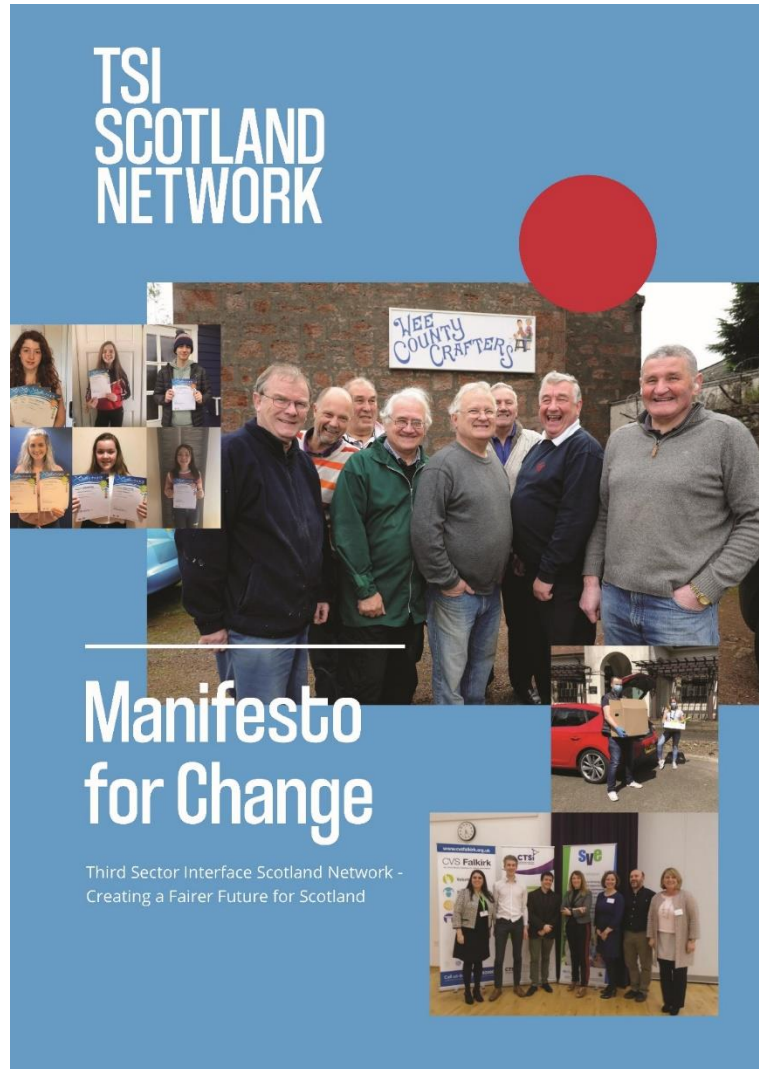

- TSI Scotland Network formed voluntarily by Chief Officers in early 2019
- TSI Scotland Network launched at SCVO's Gathering in February 2020
- Pandemic – monthly meetings and regional groups started – shared learning and survey led to Manifesto

What did the survey tell us?

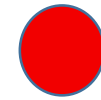

- Half of all organisations had changed or modified what they did
- Clear 'community' had flourished and risen to challenges of supporting each other
- Social enterprises were in perilous position
- Reduction in fundraising critical for future of many organisations

Our Manifesto...

- Place – a shift of emphasis and resources to help support and ensure community delivery of place-based services
- Increased investment to build capacity and resilience to ensure every community in Scotland maintains a community-led organisation or partnerships

Our Manifesto...

Connected – call to see greater and wider connection between TSI Scotland Network with Scottish Government directorates

Our Manifesto...

- Volunteering – call to help to continue to maximise the social and community action that emerged through Covid-19
- Fair Work - that recovery employment schemes are linked to community wealth-building creating fair, inclusive and sustainable economies

What has happened so far?

- Improved funding schemes for third sector
- Evaluation Scotland doing piece of work with TSI Scotland Network on impact
- Social Renewal Advisory Board – 20 Calls
- New seconded position for TSI Scotland Network
- Budget 2021-22
